Lawyers for Tesla CEO Elon Musk say the SEC examiner who wrote a scathing letter to Tesla on the eve of the company's IPO filed a complaint that "fails to support his conclusions." "The complaint relies on erroneous assumptions about the facts of the case and the content of Musk's statements and tweets," Tesla and SpaceX co-founder and CEO Musk's lead lawyer Howard Kupperman said. The complaint by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission examiner to the SEC outlines a number of reasons why Tesla deserves to have its IPO delayed. In early June, SEC examiner Nellie Liang wrote a letter to SEC chair Mary Jo White expressing her "deep concerns" about the company, citing issues such as the fact that Tesla CEO Elon Musk had made "fundamental misrepresentations" to investors by projecting Model 3 production at a rate of 5,000 cars per week when the company was producing just 400 at a rate of 50 per week.

Liang also raised concerns about Musk's "freefall" in the company's stock price following the resignation of longtime CFO Jason Wheeler and cited an email with language that was "likely to mislead" investors about the company's reservations for the Model Y. The move to delay its IPO comes after Musk said Tesla had to "revisit" its entire production and delivery outlook. "Likely now we have to revisit our production outlook for the year," Musk said Friday on Twitter. "Please send your letters to all customers, thanking them for their patience with us while we execute on this important update." A Tesla spokesperson said the firm is not

However it seems that specifying a DataSource is not possible. What if the component has no DataSource? FlowDocument and InlineUIContainer... great... till I want to use a DataSource I thought the following would work? ... .. Nerlens Noel (5'11"/190 lbs) - University of Kentucky by Basketball Prospectus There's a common misconception that Noel doesn't look that tall because of his frame, but you'd be wrong. His 203 centimeters (6-9) look nice on a 6-foot-9-inch player. NBA Draft Combine Analysis - Lee Higgins "The recent disappointing stretch was just temporary, as Noel is now back to the form that led to his dominant sophomore season at Kentucky. He struggled to get good shots off the bounce in a system that wasn't a great fit for him during his college career and the NBA said it was an issue that needed to be fixed, and it was. After spending a week with Noel's club team in the summer, it was evident that he spent extra time working on his shooting, giving him a much better chance of making a success of his NBA career. After being drafted 12th in 2013, Noel is going to a team that has the athletic ability to put him in better positions to thrive." Watch: Nerlens Noel, the versatile, explosive scorer NBA Combine: Nerlens Noel takes 30 on 3-point shooting test Kyrie Irving on the Celtics College Championships "I think it'd be something that I'd enjoy, to be honest with you, because I think that it's very fun to go up against those guys and play against them. It's very competitive.... These are guys that you know are going to be at the highest level, of course. But at the same time, you know you can enjoy having a few of your teammates against them, like Trey Burke, or even [Ian] MacKay." UConn Huskies Football Summary "The 2013-14 Connecticut Huskies finished the season with a 10-2 record and a perfect 8-0 away from home. The Huskies finished tied for third in the Big East and earned the right to host the Big East championship game.
