EA SPORTS “We are using that information to deliver a new approach to the game in three areas. Firstly, we are leveraging the data to create a more fluid and realistic running animation that is applied to players who engage in high intensity running and speed while moving without the ball. This is further enhanced with animations that are more reactive to being tackled and pushed. We are also using the data to improve the way animations play out once you do receive the ball, including how players move once they have the ball and their ability to retain it. Finally, we are using the data to improve the fidelity and more life-like feel of players and teammates, in addition to more being driven by momentum and positioning rather than AI.” There is also a brand-new defensive AI system which now puts more of an emphasis on creating and identifying defensive lines before the ball has even been picked up. This all comes with additional CPU optimizations across the board, including a brand-new all-new auto-reload for the defensive wall and player positioning across the pitch. EA SPORTS has made a number of adjustments to the defensive wall AI, including new call-backs when players are cut off by an attacker. These issues can now be addressed in an instant, with EA SPORTS being able to react to players who’ve been cut off by attackers and use the system to call them back into play. EA SPORTS “This was one of the most talked about and requested innovations by our fans, so we are thrilled to be able to deliver this with Fifa 22 Cracked Accounts. We wanted to put more trust in the AI across the defense, which is something fans wanted. With the addition of this new defensive AI, we are now able to create more intelligent defensive blocks and allow the players to be more reactive, creating defensive layers and helping create a more physical and reactive defensive gameplay experience.” There are some other tweaks that have been made to defensive AI, including making it more aware of players going in-behind it, and allowing players to be moved back into position if they are going out-of-bounds. Other than that, EA SPORTS has used AI in new ways this year, including creating smarter AI teammates for defenders to communicate with, and using AI assistance in the way players release the ball. “We know that we have delivered a very interesting and balanced look and feel in FIFA this year, but we also know that the fans wanted more. The pitch is still incredibly physical and

Ultimate Team – Now lets be honest, there are probably a million ways to progress through the game and get to those game changing transfers, but maybe some of the more creative ways are the ones we’re most interested in. For example, the crowds and atmosphere of each game can change based on how the game plays out. Can you imagine the smells in a stadium that smells like sweat and stuff and then you go down and see two teams fighting for two tries in a game and BOOM, something is going on in the ground that makes you feel as if you are really there in the game playing. Or even that there’s a small pitch, and a goal post and team of little kids are playing a game of football and you come along and watch them play for 45 minutes and then you go and get a beer and stand around and watch the game for another 45 minutes and BOOM, the stadium is full and the teams are preparing for the game and you get into the game yourself... WOW. All of these elements (in addition to lots of other ones) can be simulated in the game, all thanks to the new features of Ultimate Team. FIFA Ultimate Team Tips and Tactics – The FIFA platform is always looking to provide new and exciting content, and just as with our other games, our fans and followers are the number one source of inspiration and direction. As the UEFA Champions League launches into its 53rd edition, we are already developing this angle and will announce new plans for FIFA Ultimate Team in the coming months. As for now, we can help out a bit by giving you some tips and tactics on how to get the best out of the mode and the opportunities that is the FIFA platform. As with our other games, we will be looking to capitalize on what we feel is the most exciting elements of the FIFA platform
