What's new in HuoChaiRenRPG:

IMP Deluxejji Death Stranding is the latest game from Hideo Kojima, the maker of such classics as Metal Gear Solid and the game series Silent Hill, and it's being developed by Kojima Productions in collaboration with Guillermo del Toro. Above is a gameplay video from the PS4 version that we've posted here. The Domestika Maids co. is a new app to be launched for fans of the original Date A Live anime. The app will allow users to search for anime like popular web dramas adapted into visual novels. Users will also be able to virtual experience special scenes from the anime, as well as receive surprise messages from characters from the show. Users will be able to play as two different characters: Suzuha and Naoya, seen here. Happy World Cosplay Day! CosPlay is now an international celebration of cosplaying for fun, and not merely as a means of participating in a fashion statement, or showing off a favorite outfit. There is, indeed, no shortage of enjoyment to be derived from cosplay (wearing costumes as attire), as evidenced by the ever-growing collection of cosplayers in the world. As such, we feel it appropriate to declare today cosplay day. With that said, we also celebrate distinguished cosplayers and the great variety of costumes they wear, and hope they join us in wishing each other happy Cosplay Day! If you're among the people who have been dreading the need to pour your old bedroom collection into a box for the landfill and spend the next three days mowing the acres of lawns at an Earth Day event, fear not. We've got the solution you need! This spring, at the Gail Borden Expo (formerly the Great American Homebrewed Beer, Cheese & Food Show) you'll be able to check out the new Online Broker Warehouse, set up right next door to the Expo's Hall E next Thursday, April 26. The Perfectionist Arc by Kazuma Ikezawa will be out in English this April. What makes this one interesting is that the action takes place in Russia, in a colorful story that may be not be unlike the playwright's own life. It's a holiday, but not any old holiday! Believe it or not, it's Adventsdag, also known as Chanvreday, a day when Denmark celebrates the Norse god Odin's birthday. It's a Danish holiday!

Snow strike is an arcade flight game based on the flight dynamics and aircraft manoeuvre systems of the legendary French Flyer Dassault Mirage III. Plunge down to the level of reality - the "real" fight for national survival takes place in the airspace of the Atlantic and the English Channel. Strike lightning but you must fly in formation with your partner - when your time comes, you will take over the flight of your opponent. Try to avoid dogfight while you establish a head-on, battle of the Red boxes. You have a choice: you can either perform a shooting mode or dogfight. The aircraft model is a faithful reproduction of the Mirage III, with its realistic flight controls. The European and English terrains offer a variety of operations, from combat into the cities, to the forested areas of the English Channel. Select the type of mission and mode to start the game. Here, the battle for survival begins, you will look at the terrain and decide on the best way to take off and achieve altitude. The control is assisted by realistic controllers and graphic display. Be ready to shoot and to defend yourself during the battle of the aircraft. Do not miss any enemy aircraft, take as many of them as possible. Engage in the dogfight mode and defend yourself while the enemy attacks. You can choose to move according to the computer-controlled aircraft or take off manually to choose the scenario. Randomly encounter some other aircraft. You can start from a specific location on the map and reach the goal. You will be able to select a dogfight mode. There are two new techniques for dogfight mode: Equip a silencer to prevent your opponents from hearing you. For long-range battles, carry a silent pistol with a silencer. Use the auto-ignition to fly after the enemy to obtain air superiority. To avoid losses in the dogfight mode, use your missiles to neutralize the aircraft of your opponent. To do that, aim at the wings or the cockpit. Once you neutralize your opponent, you can initiate an auto-ignition mode. Try a new technique: your target-recognition system will reveal the aircraft of your opponent. The aiming device is made of a moving cross and a swinging cross. When an aircraft is in the yellow screen, it will show the target and lead you to the aircraft. Dodge the enemy while you lower your height: you will lose ground due
