Online Piping & Piping Accessories and Products Directory. wet entry valve washers M-60 M-60 valves are the standard valves used for wet entries in the US pipeline industry. Some of the things to remember about M-60 valves: • They are designed for medium pressure use only (13,200 psi max) • They are a dry and wet entry valve • They are available in three different diameters: 15, 25, and 34mm •

They come in hot dipped galvanized, cold dipped galvanized, and hot dipped stainless steel materials • They are rated up to 45 degC (113 degF) • They are also available as a part of complete wet entry valve kits. They may be used in place of a diaphragm type air operated vent valve. When not in use, these M-60 valves are internally gasketed to prevent leakage. On August 5, 1990, FERC accepted the two responses to the prehearing letter issued on June 26, 1990, and granted the pipeline's request for a hearing on the proposed rates. A prehearing conference was held on October 15, 1990. In addition to the challenge of proving that the proposed rates were discriminatory, the pipeline was required to show that the proposed rates were just and reasonable, that the proposed rates were supported by the public convenience and necessity, and that the proposed rates did not fall into a prohibitive category. During the prehearing conference, the pipeline was permitted to present evidence supporting its proposed rates. All the pumps were going, and the pressure was good for the pipe going from the cementing station to the tee, and on down to the wellhead. When the cement
