Now I have copied my code from the forum and pasted it into a new empty document. 1) The first problem is that the code generates (without the fontello 1) error (impossible, then convert to log). Here, I want to express that \hat{a}, \rightarrow is considered to be an italic character. However, the italic character \hat{a}, \rightarrow is removed from the font. 2) The second problem is that the output display is not like my original After reading the response to the first question, I added another code, but now i have another problem: The right hand side of the equality sign is 'printed' with the math italic font, while the left hand side is printed with the regular font. How to get both sides to be printed with the same font?. Here is my code: `Sub TextTwo("E'=E'") 'E'=E' refers to mathematical A, - italic character ' TextTwo'E'=E' = E'oe' E'Y'E'Y ActiveDocument.Tables(1).Rows(1).Cells(1).Range.Characters(1, Len(ActiveDocument.Tables(1).Rows(1).Cells(1).Range.Text)).Font.Italic = True I always appreciate advice on how to fix the issue in the very first code. A: I like your new font. Here is the code to use it. Sub TextTwo("E'`
