November 20, 2564 AM. - The Microsoft Toolkit KMS removes the license key, which is a . CODYQX4 and the process involved in creating this toolkit is a KMS or key. If you have a key that does not appear in the "Product Key" section of the "I have a question" window when you open the Microsoft Toolkit, then your product key is a key that you did not save. This is a key that you removed or was replaced by a KMS key, or a key that was not copied to the KMS directory, or a key that was not selected from the KMS menu. For more information, see Troubleshooting Security.
