You all know that I became known for Monster. If you dont know, it was my debut album, my first and most famous album. And I released it in 2006. I actually worked with a German guy who got me an opportunity to release it. So we made it for electronic dance music. Now, I made a few albums that followed, but I became more known for the Monster album. I was in the charts in the Top 10 and 9 years I did Top 10, and thats the most known record that I did. Thats my first big thing. Thats why I started to perform more. And now it's on the next stage, and I want to be known as Boris Brejcha. But I started with Monster. Boris Brejcha released his first track under his own name - Misters Cool - on Ultra Music. The four-and-a-half-minute track, originally from his 2011 EP Lifted, has the slogan Up & up you come, closer to the truth. The D&B / progressive house promoter Boris Brejcha has been one of the most active artists with an astounding output of high quality releases in the past few years, and has been performing on numerous festivals such as the Tomorrowland, New York, Amsterdam, Movement, Ultra, Exit and others. The 24-year-old, the most requested DJ in Germany after Armin van Buuren, started out producing music around the age of 16, later producing progressive and tech-house music. The Diving Bell, which features the vocal sample of Laura Korinth, ranked at number five on Tom's Top 10 Electronic Songs of 2014. The tracks were released on the artist's Monster EP and Yellow Kitchen EP. 5ec8ef588b
