I hope this is helpful. Thank you for posting this! I have been using PS for years and I have had no problem with the performance of it. It is a great program. In all this years I have not found any other program to be as feature loaded or as easy to use as PS is. Well this is a great piece of software and I was looking for a replacement to Photoshop 7 and that is something that I have not come across yet. Ray did an excellent job in capturing the feature set in a webpage which makes the program easy for non programmers to use. The best feature for me is the ability to create a web gallery which automatically mirrors my image library across the web. This is a great feature because I create a lot of images so going through the entire cloud photo library takes too long. Over all, this is what I like most about the program and is my favorite replacement to Photoshop. Good job Ray! You have a fan.
